

In Is America in Retreat?, boat captains in the South Pacific must be careful not to attract the attention of the Chinese naval forces, as they transport fishermen to waters that China is increasingly claiming as its own.